

MSc

Business Economics

Invest in an international and innovative programme offered in English.

Become a key player in helping organisations making informed decisions.

MSc

Business Economics

The MSc in Business Economics fosters a deep understanding of organisations, markets, and policies, combining real-world experience with intellectual insight. The graduates of the programme are able to provide personalized advice and inform business innovative solutions.

Courses

PERIOD 1 Sep - Jan

- | Business Econometrics
- | Business Macroeconomics
- | Business Microeconomics
- | Business Strategy
- | Financial Statement Analysis and Performance
- | Research Seminars I

PERIOD 2 Feb- Jun

- | Financial Economics
- | Human Resources Economics and Management
- | International Business
- | Elective I*
- | Elective II*
- | Research Seminars II

PERIOD 3 Jul - Jan

- | Master Final Assignment

*As elective courses, students may choose among Business and Innovation, Sustainability and Business Innovation, and other courses offered by the Msc in Finance and the Msc in Management of the School.

Career Impact

The MSc in Business Economics is suitable for those who, having a background in economics, management or engineering, are interested in pursuing a professional career as consultants and future managers of organisations. About 96% of all graduates are employed. Graduates get jobs in all sectors of activity, many in consulting, scientific, technical and similar activities.

The MSc in Business Economics is also suitable for those interested in pursuing international doctoral programmes in economics or management at renowned universities. Some master's theses have evolved into articles published in international peer-reviewed journals.

The MSc in Business Economics gives access to the following path-ways with Lancaster University Management School: MSc Finance, MSc International Business and MSc Money, Banking and Finance. Each year, some students complete the Double Degree in Lancaster.

Applications

Applications take place throughout the year with three assessment periods: March, July and September.